

Welcome to the world of MotoDiscovery Words from Skip Mascorro, Founder

Since 1981

Our story begins in 1981. It was a novel concept at the time with only a handful of companies in the world offering organized motorcycle tours. Mexico is where we got our start priming us for adventures that as the years progressed would eventually take us throughout just about every country in Latin America. We were known as Pancho Villa Moto-Tours back then, a brand with a powerful image that even today resonates with so many men and women who continue faithfully to follow us around the globe. But after two decades we felt a need for a change.

By 2002 it was clear that the image of Pancho Villa no longer identified with our vision and the legendary Mexican revolutionary was retired. We took on a fresh brand that more appropriately suited our identity. We called it MotoDiscovery. The name says it all. Discovery... that's what we do!

Our travels have inked stamps in our passports from over 46 different countries. Along the way we've learned the importance of keeping it authentic, doing it responsibly, providing unparalleled service and a genuine obligation to do all we can to make sure your riding experience, whether it be a luxury holiday or a rough and tumble over landing adventure, is the best it can possibly be.

Our longevity in this business is something I'm personally proud of. When you are charged with the safety and providing the pleasure and fulfillment of others, it is a duty. That commitment has always been core to our values. After nearly 37 years few can claim what we've earned, what we know, where we've been and what we've accomplished. Today, more than ever, experience really matters.

Our program tends to be high on style, a great value and uncompromising when it comes to personal service. We've instituted a ten bike maximum on most tours with some of our rides even having an eight bike limit. We've learned that small groups not only mean better service, but optimizes the entire travel experience. The MotoDiscovery experience is never just about a ride. If we are distinctive in any way it is our boundless imagination and a passionate yearning to immerse ourselves in the cultures we encounter and to get a little education in the process. And yes, we do some great riding!

To all those who have been with us over the decades, many thanks. We owe you so much. And to those who have yet to join the MotoDiscovery tribe, I hope you'll find inspiration in these pages and that we will be sharing a road with you soon.

Highlights

MotoDiscovery is the expert in the Copper Canyon. We know the roads, the culture, the history and that this is a place to be taken seriously.

Smaller groups means better service and more fun and flexibility. This tour is limited to 8 bikes plus staff

Nuevo Casas Grandes in the Chihuahua desert is a large Mormon community, the valley once dominated by the pre-Colombian Paquime civilization. We will visit the Paquime ruins.

The primitive Tarahumara Indians, many still live in caves, will be encountered on our travels.

Batopilas canyon and the village along its river for many years was a scenic but challenging descent. Today it is paved and we go deeper into the canyon country to "get dirty". Still this village is a memorable highlight.

You will appreciate our Sierra Madre experts and having the confidence of support.
